

THE FOURSOME concluded that the "freedom to read and the freedom to publish are essential to the preservation of our democracy" in a panel discussion at the library conference last Friday. Director of U of M libraries, Dr. E. B. Stanford is shown at the left with UMD's associate professor of philosophy Dr. Henry Ehlers, who chaired the panel. Librarian Joseph Richardson as host for the conference is at the right of Dr. David K. Berninghausen, director of U of M library school.

Chorus Concert Tuesday Features Musical Variety

A variety of numbers will be featured by the UMD chorus in their first concert of the year at 8 p. m. Tuesday in Main auditorium.

"And he does the housework, also feeds the chickens, while I take life easy." So confides one 16th century dame to another in the song "He is Good and Handsome" by Passereau, one of the numbers which the chorus will sing.

Directed by Allen Downs, assistant professor of music, the A Cappella Chorus is made up 55 students this year.

Contrasted to the lively mood of the above is "The Lamentations of Jeremiah" by Alberta Ginastera. A longer work of three sections, it moves from a mood of intense grief to one of optimistic hope. The highly contrapuntal style and unusual harmonies enrich the theme of the composition, according to director Downs.

Also on the program are: "Alleluia, Praise His Name" by contemporary Arnold Jones; "Now Arise My Soul," Wihtol's arrangement of a Bortnyanskiy composition; "The Cat," a Brazilian folksong arranged by Jose Vierira Brandoa; "Now we Sing Thy Praise," Tschesnokoff arranged by Kuykendall, with Don Hogquist as soloist; and "Descende In Hortum Meum," Fevin arranged by Stoessel, which Dr. Leichtenritl has called "One of the most beautiful pieces of its type in the entire literature."

Nominating Procedure Revamped

Frosh Hold Political Power

WILL THE LARGE freshman class control UMD elections this spring?

This question was raised in discussion this week of commission elections and a suggested new pattern of nominations.

Future campus political office-seekers will do well to note that the frosh class, numbering better than a third of the total enrollment, will have a lot to say as to what students will lead campus affairs next year.

'OF COURSE,' elections commissioner Don Fischer was quick to note, "they are not organized for political action and diverse interests will spread their votes considerably."

A new scheme for nominating a slate of candidates for the student commission was announced this week by Fischer.

According to the plans, clubs will be asked to select representatives for a nominating convo slated late in April. This body of delegates would then add nominations, or select by voting, which names should be on the ballot presented to the entire student body.

Filings would precede the convention and be open to all students with sufficient credits and honor points.

THE DUES-PAYING or registered membership of each organization filed in the office of student personnel services will allow each group two or more voting delegates to this nominating body, Fischer announced.

Groups of 25 or less would be allowed two delegates. Those organizations numbering 26 to 50 active members would cast four ballots with four votes for groups from 51 to 75. A maximum of five delegates would be given to organizations listing more than 75 members.

IT WAS ANTICIPATED that greater interest would be stimulated in the elections by making each group an active participant in nominations for the ballot.

Faculty Urged To Curb Cribbing

A report before the Student Commission in Tuesday's meeting revealed that faculty at UMD have been "urged to remove any conditions which permit cheating during examinations."

The ninth point declared: "If a faculty member observes cheating and does not wish to decide the penalty he should notify the secretary of the faculty discipline committee, Robert Falk, immediately and describe the case."

"Sample action concerning one student by the committee was as follows:

(1) a failing grade for the course; (2) required to earn extra honor points for graduation; (3) placed on disciplinary probation for the balance of the school year; (4) record of action was placed in a sealed envelope in student's folder."

Groups To Challenge CSO Dues At Campus Meeting Tomorrow

CONSIDERABLE OPPOSITION on some points may challenge the proposed new constitution for the Congress of Student Organizations as delegates and faculty advisors meet on campus tomorrow morning.

An Assembly of the CSO will begin at 9 a. m. tomorrow in Main 200 with consideration of the constitution as the major item of business. Officers to work with CSO president Ed Alspach will be elected if a majority of student organizations approve the constitution.

SEVERAL STUDENT groups have voiced strong feeling against provisions of the constitution calling for payment of dues annually to the body and at least one group promised to challenge this statement at the sessions tomorrow.

Planned for Feb. 11 originally, the Assembly was postponed when only a handful of delegates appeared.

According to the constitution, the CSO must be formally constituted by the end of the winter quarter. For this time limit, Alspach was especially anxious that each organization be represented.

Voting will be decided by the Assembly, according to president Alspach, with probable arrangements granting two votes to each organization.

MEMBERSHIP IN THE CSO will be required of all recognized student organizations which are not directly represented on the student commission. Other constitutional requirements call for adoption of the preamble and constitution, acceptance of the by-laws and payment of dues for the current year.

This last provision is the one which at least one organization plans to challenge in tomorrow's sessions, Alspach said.

By-laws to implement administration of the constitution will probably be formulated in the morning meeting also.

A UNIQUE FEATURE incorporated into the proposed constitution announces that until ratified, or the end of winter quarter 1956, the document will be provisionally in effect.

One of the most important links in the relationship of student groups to each other, the CSO has been inactive for several months. With the drafting of the written constitution and plans to organize a strong executive committee for the body, president Alspach anticipates that the CSO will become an active force again.

School spirit and the successful working of the CSO were linked earlier by commission president Ralph Miller.

"THE ONLY WAY to greater spirit on campus will be through a closer unity between organizations. The CSO should be able to develop this," he said.

Faculty advisors have been asked to be present at the morning sessions in addition to at least one representative from each organization.

Alspach announced that anyone was welcome to attend, but organization delegates alone would be qualified to vote.

TO APPROVE THE constitution, at least half of the approximate forty recognized student organizations on campus must vote for its adoption.

As a subordinate body to the UMD Student Commission, the CSO will then present its constitution to that body before final approval by the Senate Committee on Student Affairs of the University can be requested.

Scope and purpose of the CSO are seen in the preamble to the proposed constitution which states that student organizations create the CSO out of a desire to "foster the recognition of the rights and responsibilities of the organizations to the school, the community, humanity and God."

Curtailed Food Service Seen Cafeteria Equipment Moves To New Center

ANNOUNCEMENT THAT cafeteria facilities will be considerably curtailed during spring quarter was made before the student commission in Tuesday's meeting.

As part of a contract for construction of the new student center, several pieces of equipment from the cafeteria in the basement of Torrance Hall will be moved into the center building. To conform to time limits on construction, the contractors have announced that the equipment will be moved during April.

STUDENT CENTER commissioner Dick Gottschald raised the speculation that food service facilities in the center building might be placed in operation before other portions of the building.

University policy of not using buildings until they have been officially received could possibly be offset by the fact that the center contracts are in two separate documents.

Mrs. Miriam Schroeder, food service supervisor, said that most of the equipment in the Torrance cafeteria will be moved into the new building early in April. She meets today with the business manager Earl Hobe to map out the move more fully.

GREAT DISSATISFACTION with the plan of moving stoves, coolers, steam tables and other necessary items for food service from the present cafeteria was voiced by members of the commission. The student leaders felt that the University was obligated to provide a complete facility.

NO OFFICIAL word had come from University sources that the food service in the center would open to provide meals to students during spring quarter, but commissioner Gottschald's speculations raised a glimmer of hope that a practical solution may be forthcoming.

Polio Shots Ready Soon

Polio vaccine will be available at the UMD health service for students under age 20.

The first shot maybe received Friday, March 9 between 9 a. m. and noon and each subsequent Friday during these hours as long as vaccine is available.

man vote is his pie, director of student activities Edwin Sigelkow of OSPS announced that the class organization cannot participate in nominations as it is directly represented through a president serving on the student commission.

HOWEVER, when the smokes of electioneering have died down following the May 11 all-school voting, the 600-odd votes cast by freshmen will take on a huge stature despite their weak voice in nominating candidates.

Sale Of Buttons Proves 'Success'

Button sales for Sno-Week have been tallied up and "he result shows the sales to have been a real success according to chairman Paul Butler.

In an announcement of the winners this week, Butler expressed his appreciation for the "interest, effort and cooperation" demonstrated by participating campus organizations.

Competition showed Gamma Theta Phi fraternity finished in first place. Sigma Psi Gamma sorority garnered second prize while sorority number three, formerly Delta Beta Gamma, came in a close third. Prizes of $15, $10 and $5 cash will be awarded respectively.

Students Won't Be Foiled By Ideas-Veep

(Editor's Note: As a highlight of University week, Vice-president of academic administration for the U of M, Dr. Malcolm M. Willey spoke in a dedicatory convocation for the new library. Among his remarks were these significant opinions. Excerpts of his talk follow.)

THERE IS NOTHING more important than an idea.

"Books are ideas in print, ideas that are permanently bound between covers for all to share.

"FREEDOM TO EXPOUND ideas, and freedom to challenge them in the open-market place of thought, are basic rights of the citizen in a democratic society. This freedom constitutes the most potent defense against the dangers inherent in communism or any other totalitarian ideology.

"It is a frightening inconsistency that often those who are most vocally concerned about the dangers of communism are the very ones who advocate suppression of ideas as the means of combatting it, as though suppression would control thought.

"No idea ever dies by suppression; a bad idea loses effectiveness and power only in the process of replacing it with a different and a better idea.

"AND HOW IS the soundness of any idea determined? By open examination, by free discussion, by critical analysis on the part of any and all free men who wish to examine, to discuss or to analyze it.

"As an administrative officer in a distinguished university, I am confronted almost daily with concrete examples of what I am saying. Frankly I do not worry because students sometimes raise questions that deviate from the accepted norms of thought.

"Nor do I worry they listen, as they occasionally do, to speakers whose doctrines may appear to some adults as unorthodox. There's a modicum of wisdom in Lafcadio Hearn's observation that to be a good conservative in later life one must have been a good radical in his youth.

"I HAVE AN UNSHAKEABLE faith in the ability of college students and young people generally in our democracy to distinguish sham from sound thinking. My campus experience of more than a quarter of a century convinces me that college students are as relentless and persistent critics of band thinking as one is likely to find.

I am not afraid that students will be subverted by foolish ideas.

She Must Be Flunking French N'est ce-pas?

A French instructor was carefully explaining one of the idiosyncrasies of the French language.

"French girls are called 'jeune filles'—literally young girls. Never call one simply 'file.' 'It's an insult,' warned the professor. 'Only girls known to be not so nice are called 'files'."

A coed with a puzzled expression raised her hand and asked urgently:

"Well, how can you tell?"

Scientist, Educator Speak On Books

SOME STATEMENTS which Vice-president Willey included in his talk form an interesting parallel to those included in the talk of a great scientist in a speech before college journalists last fall.

Dedication remarks of Dr. Willey included: "THE BOOKS on the shelves of this library and every other library in the land, symbolize dramatically the meaning of intellectual freedom. Here are man's ideas from the dawn of history, for all to read and ponder. Here all the wisdom, and all the ignorance that have filled men's minds for generations and generations past—this heritage is ours to sift."

"EVERY BOOK is a fragment of human history taken from the minds of men. Added together, books are the staff of history, rather than mere cues to it.

"I am aware, of course, that there are books and books—good ones, bad ones, amusing ones, dreary ones; trivial assemblages of fact and fancy, and all of that—but in sum total, the accumulation of books from ages past is the key to an understanding of man's place in the total scheme of things.

"In short, books are the means whereby man establishes his own place in the long perspective of human history and is made noble by comprehending his relationship to the Infinite.

"IT IS A TRIBUTE to our civilization that we have come to attach to books and those who write them the importance that we do. All the veneration we can give to books and authors will never be too much. That is why the dedication of this library assumes normal significance."

AGED AND HONORED Charles F. Kettering of General Motors fame spoke on this same veneration with a different slant. In an address to some 800 college journalists at a convention in Detroit last fall, the holder of 32 honorary degrees from leading American colleges and universities warned against placing too much faith in books.

"Recently I gave a little library to a college down in Ohio (Ohio State University) and I said I would like to have a motto put over the front door, but finally I agreed I wouldn't insist on it. The motto was this, 'Read Here At Your Own Risk.' Your chances of getting misinformation are much greater than correct information.

"SO THAT BRINGS me back to this question of who is the author? What did the guy know who wrote the thing? You will want to be very careful of that."

The scientific leader went on to urge responsibility for factual writing upon the student journalists.

CHATting WITH Vice-president Malcolm M. Willey, commission president Ralph Miller and public relations commissioner Carol Chesney become better acquainted with the University official. Dr. Willey's visit to campus and convocation address were important features of University week.

City Ice Follies Feature UMDites

UMD will be well represented this week in the annual Ice Follies to be held at the Curling Club, March 2, 3, and 4.

Headlining the outstanding program will be UMD's Susan Sebo who will team with one of the top rated male competitors in the country, Tim Brown.

Brown, the National junior champion last year, is the fourth ranked skater in the U. S. being chosen as the first alternate for the U. S. Olympic team this past winter. With only seventeen years behind him, world recognition seems forthcoming as our Olympic skaters took the first three places in this year's games.

Miss Sebo who has gained the reputation as one of the finest young skaters in the country will also give an individual exhibition as will the co-star Brown.

The cast of 200 is sprinkled with UMDites and lab school students in what promises to be an outstanding show.

One of the features of the show is a speciality number including some of the UMD hockey players. Elmer Schwartz, Don Wilkie, Jerry Kleisinger and Wally Akrevick are among the participants.

The first show is Friday evening, with afternoon and evening performance Saturday and a Sunday matinee final.

Undefeated Skiers Face Major Test In U.S. Central Intercollegiate Meet

Scoring Records Set By Puckmen

By RALPH ROMANO

UMD's undefeated skiers go after the big one this weekend when they travel to Houghton, Michigan for the U. S. Central Intercollegiate Ski meet with defending champion Michigan Tech as hosts.

The meet qualifies participants for the National Collegiate meet to be held later in March in Colorado. UMD, while favored to win the meet this weekend, is not eligible to compete in the national event because they are not members of the NCAA.

UMD and Michigan Tech are co-favorites with their only previous meeting resulting in a sound win for the Bulldogs.

Other squads expected to attend are Michigan State, Michigan, Minnesota, Wisconsin, St. Thomas, Beloit and Lawrence.

It will be a four event meet with the downhill and cross country being run on Saturday and the jumping and slalom to be held Sunday.

The runnerup Bulldogs will enter a full squad including two defending champions in their attempt to unseat the Huskies. The 1955 champions are Al Erickson, downhill and Dan Kelly, jumping. This year's Bulldog squad is reputed to be the best balanced ever at the Duluth branch.

Entered in downhill and slalom will be, Frank Fransen, Paul Schmidt, Wally Aunan, Ken McKenna and Al Erickson. Cross country participants will be Fransen, Schmidt, Erickson, McKenna, Denny Ojakangas and Jim Nygaard.

UMD's outstanding array of jumpers may not be able to attend because the city meet is being held the same day. At the present time an effort is being made to fly the jumpers to the Houghton area.

Bulldog jumpers include Joe Nowak, holder of the hill record in Duluth; Jerry Lewis, Class B national champion; McKenna, Erickson, Fransen and Bill Kelso.

The only seniors among the group are Aunan and Nygaard.

Michigan Tech, always tough, is led by Bill Slattery and Jerry Knabell in their quest to repeat. The advantage of their home hill also benefits.

WING ELMER Schwartz evades an Augsburg defender as he makes an attempt to add to his record conference marks. Schwartz set new marks for conference goals, assists and total points and added the all game assist mark.

UMD's MIAC champion hockey Bulldogs smashed all existing records on their way to a 17-6 season and 12-0 conference slate. Both individual and team records were felled in the onslaught.

Team captain Harvey Flaman and his wing Elmer Schwartz took care of the existing scoring records. Flaman's 54 point total in all games erased the old mark of 37 set by Don Bourdeau last season, while his 30 goals topped Al Peterson's 1954 mark of 18.

Schwartz, the pile driving right winger, took care of the all game mark for assists with his 26 topping by five Bourdeau's mark of last season. He also added the conference goal mark at 18 topping the standard set by Peterson and Alex Sisto by seven and added one to the old assist mark of 16 set by Don Bourdeau in 1955.

John Bymark, the burly junior defenseman, broke his own penalty mark collecting eight more minutes than last seasons 25. Flaman led the sinners in conference play with 20 minutes.

SKI JUMPERS TO BECOME AIRBORNE

Dear Ralph:

The UMD ski jumpers will become an airborne ski team this week. Due to the fact that the Central Intercollegiate Ski Meet at Houghton, Michigan this week is held on the same day as the Duluth City Championships the members of the jumping squad, thanks to Joe Nowak, have arranged to fly to the meet and jump, then return by plane the same day to compete in the city meet.

Members who will be flying are Dan Kelly, Jerry Lewis and Joe Nowak. The team plans to leave here at 6 a. m. and jump at Houghton at 10 a. m., then fly back for the meet in Duluth at 2 p. m.

This trip was arranged by Joe Nowak and shows school spirit that can't be beat. This project took a lot of time and effort to arrange and I think Joe deserves a word of praise for this thoughtfulness to his school.

The officials at Houghton have cooperated with Dr. Wells in order that the boys might compete by moving the meet up to Sunday morning instead of the afternoon as originally planned. Let's wish the boys good luck both in Houghton and at Fond du Lac, where they will compete for city honors.

Basketeers Win 7, Lose 9 In MIAC Competition

by DON ROMANO

A sure sign of spring for every sports fan was noted last Tuesday when the UMD cagers completed their 22 game schedule. Whether snow or sunshine prevails, the next event to the UMD sports follower are the spring events of track, tennis and golf.

However, before the snow gives way to spring, a month will be consumed giving the fan a chance to review the past season.

On first glance by the observer the year seemed like a fair one with the cagers winning 11, while losing 11. They won 7 and lost 9 in the conference, while copping four of six outside the league. This record left the Bulldogs in the second division.

The events of the season were brightened by a number of promising showings which included:

UMD's choice for all conference, Doug Rossi, led the Bulldogs scoring with 280 points in 16 league games for a 17.5 average.

The Bulldogs lose only one member of the starting five, Doug Rossi.

Four freshmen, Bob Monson, Harold Bergstedt, Vince Ekroot and Jon Sampson saw action with the top ten. Monson and Bergstedt were regular starters.

The other members of the squad to see considerable action were juniors Jim Intihar, Jack McKillop and Dick Veech.

Bulldogs Take 'Cousins' From Gustavus By 77-72

UMD's upstart Bulldogs with captain Doug Rossi and guard Bob Monson leading the way thrilled over 2,000 fans Tuesday night with a 77-72 conquest of league champion Gustavus. The loss, third for the Gusties, was their second to the second division Bulldogs.

It was an inspired Bulldog team which took an early lead, held it throughout the first half, surrendered it for a short while in the final period and then roared to the margin of victory.

A spurt from a 69-61 deficit with Bob Monson leading the way and accuracy from the free throw line in the dying minutes provided the margin of victory.

UMD started fast enjoying solid leads throughout the first half at 9-4, 13-8, and 20-12 their largest. Gustavus narrowed the margin to three at 35-32, with a flurry of free throws as the half ended.

As if detremined not to be upset, the Gusties began to press from the second half whistle and quickly snatched the lead with big Bill Patterson in command.

Twice the Bulldogs tied at 42-42 and 61-61 but a Gustavus spurt from the later gave them a 69-61 lead with 6:54 remaining.

The rush followed and the Bulldogs became the first club since 1952 to beat Gustavus twice in one season.

All five starters finished in the double figure column, Rossi in his farewell appearance contributed 18 with Bob Monson a Gustavus menace joining him at that figure. Center Jack McKillop added 12, Harold Bergstedt a defensive power poured 11 through the hoops and Jim Intihar scored 10, all in the second half.

Jon Sampson, the frosh guard from Duluth Denfeld, turned in an outstanding clutch performance collecting a six point total while displaying good ball handling and strong rebounding strength.

Although only Doug Rossi will be absent come next season, the loss will be a tough one to bear as once more he proved to be the steadying influence in a 'green' team which has come of age. Rossi will always remember this game for his teammates presented him with the game ball and the victory.

All eyes are on the 300-yard medley relay race as the UMD swimmers move into the thick of the MIAC meet. The Bulldogs competing in the three day event, beginning yesterday and ending tomorrow, are hoping for a record breaking performance by its medley team. The medleyers, who have clipped off three seconds from the old mark of 3:12.8 in dual events, will attempt to make it official at this three day meet being held at St. Thomas college in St. Paul.

The boys featured in this event are all freshmen with Harley Tennison swimming backstroke, Tim Birman the breaststroke and Bob Anttila the freestyle. The race will be the last on the three day agenda for the UMD squad coached by Dick Wainio.

UMD failed to win a meet this season. The squad at present numbers only seven members. This is about half of what is needed to present a full swimming team, which accounts chiefly for UMD defeats. While they have made active showings and copped a number of firsts, their lack of depth has erased any of the possibilities of a win.

Wainio considers Hamline and Gustavus the top two of the event with St. Thomas, Macalester and UMD fair chances to challenge them.

Members of UMD's squad are: Ted Jobin, breaststroke, Gene Laulanen, Dave Karples, Wendell Hilding, freestyle; plus Tennison, Birman and Anttila.

Bulldogs Fell Macalester In Overtime Tilt

By RON PROULX

It took an overtime to do it, but coach Norm Olson's UMD Bulldogs defeated the Macalester Scots by a score of 92-90, at the UMD gym last Friday night. Regulation play ended with the two teams in an 83-83 deadlock.

Captain Doug Rossi and junior center Jack McKillop had to combine their respective efforts and points to near equalize the total output of the Scots' Jerry Drier and Bruce Pagel. Rossi, with 28 points, his best offensive production of the season, and McKillop's 24, totaled 52 points, just two less than those grossed by the latter pair. Drier, who is the MIAC's leading scorer, netted 33 points for the night, and Pagel chipped in with 21.

The Bulldogs, who led at one point during the second half by 16 points at 65-49, succumbed to a Macalester rally that evened things all up at 75-75. Russ Hanson's bucket for Macalester momentarily forged the Scots into the lead, but Harold Bergstedt's matcher put the equalizer on it.

With a minute and 30 seconds of the contest remaining, McKillop hooked two points in from the side, Jim Intihar scored from the gift line, and Bob Monson added two points from the same spot to give the Bulldogs an 82-77 lead.

Macalester, down but not out, came back with two field goals while McKillop netted a free throw. This made it 83-81 with the Bulldogs on the long end.

The Scots took the ball out of bounds with seven seconds remaining. A pass to Drier—a shot—and the ball went through the hoop just as the horn sounded ending the game, forcing the overtime.

The Bulldogs drew first blood in the overtime when Jim Intihar scored two gifters. Four more free throws—two each by Bergstedt and McKillop—against Scot buckets by Pagel and Drier—gave the Bulldogs a 91-87 lead. Jim Baker then added a two-pointer and a free shot for the Scots, pulling them to within one point of the pace setting Bulldogs at 91-90. That one point margin would have been enough for the Bulldogs, but Rossi added another free throw for insurance, and the victory.

To the Editor:

I am a senior at UMD and have attended most varsity shows to date. Without a doubt this was the finest show UMD has had since I have been here.

I don't know how Beta Phi Kappa got into the show, and I, as everyone else, will agree it was a blemish to the rest of the show. It seems strange that with all the obvious rehearsing that was done, this act was not altered or dropped. Ed and Pete are both Beta boys; why they allowed an act of this nature to go on an otherwise tremendous show is beyond me. Surely they must have known what their own fraternity was putting on. Obviously they catered to their own fraternity. This should certainly never be allowed to take place.

Yet, with all of the criticism that I am hearing about the Beta act and the dissatisfaction over their performance I personally feel, I still feel safe in saying that their act would compare very favorably with some of the best fraternity acts in the past.

The fine, clean, high quality acts of the rest of the show was refreshing to me as I am sure it was to many others. It almost seemed a comparison to me, as if to say "This was our varsity show this year and Beta will show you how they have been before."

This is not completely fair, as there has been many good acts before, but I have yet to see a good one by a fraternity.

I hope that in the future we will have shows of this caliber and that this year's precedent for rehearsals and organization will be well heeded.

I regret that I must keep my name anonymous.

Draft Test Applications Due Monday

Male students interested in obtaining deferment for next year have until midnight, Monday, to submit application blanks for the Selective Service College Qualifying test.

To be eligible for the test, a student must be satisfactorily enrolled in a full time course, must intend to request deferment as a student, and must not previously have taken the test.

The date for the spring testing will be on April 19, but applications submitted after March 5 will not be accepted. It is possible to obtain deferment on the basis of grades alone, but passing the test provides an alternate basis for requesting deferment in the event that a student's grades drop during the year and place him below the point where deferment can be based on grades.

Deferment for each year is based on that year's grades alone, not on the cumulative average. Seniors in particular should be aware of the fact that if they are considering graduate work they must be in the upper one fourth of their senior male class during their last year, or as an alternative pass the deferment test.

Application blanks for the test are available in 211 Main, 109 Washburn, and the Science division office.
